

What are your objections to the National banks?"

"I am opposed to the Government's paying interest on their money, and then enabling them to collect interest from the Treasury 10 per cent on the money they are loaning, and thus to get 20 per cent from taxation. If the bankers sell exchange bonds for Treasury notes, dollar for dollar, and thus cost interest, I will be willing to pay interest on the bonds of the National banks continued on that basis."

INDORSING THE PAPERS OF THE BANKS

"But the banks would not agree to this."

"That remains to be tested. They will certainly not be content with single interest when they can get double interest. And, as the present charters expire, they may prefer lending Treasury notes at from 7 to 10 per cent to draw interest on bonds at 4 per cent, especially if the Treasury notes are exempted from taxation."

Senator Charles W. Jones, of Florida, takes his different views of the issues and position the Democracy. He talks as if Civil-Servants, for instance, was one of the cardinal principles of his policy. But the only way the country does not have a reformed Civil-Servants is because the Democrats have not been powerful in all the executive departments since 1860. In the South

HE CAN SEE NO WRONG;

the North, apparently no good. He thinks that the interest of the Southern party is to interpret intemperately and for party purposes and bad blood between the South and other sections of the country. He considers internal taxation and the taxation of imports discriminates against the South. He accuses the South for its forbearance and moderation in substituting not only to defend, but to protect its material and social interests. He is surprised to marvel that, no longer after the War, in view the temper of the South, the only hope of union and peace is to be found in the dominaof session over section.

in sharp contrast to the doleful views of Senators of Florida, a letter received in this form from a leading business man of Panama:

"I have never seen such an auspicious morning as this raining on the South. I believe shall break the shackles of a solid outward depression and give liberty to tongue long pent."

BUCKNER'S DILEMMA.

THE BANK-RUNNERS BILL SENOR.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 8.—The majority of the House Committee on Banking and Currency have reported a bill on an unpleasant subject, the Bank of Commerce and Finance amendment. The bill concerning bank-oversight, which at their last meeting was unanimously agreed to be reported, and was given to the public, is ascertained to be a measure which, in execution, would have an effect contrary to what intended by the majority of the Committee, they proposed to amend the constitution, and to provide for a grand jury work commission. The leaders learned from the fact that the father of the bill, Judge Buckner, based his provisions for a review on the old law of 1864, forgetting the amendments which had been made in the law by the legislation of 1874.

THIS PECULIAR CONDITION

is known to the members of the Committee before, but, inasmuch as they had no objection to it, they did not enlighten the Chairman, and so discovered only this morning that he had not known what he was about. Whether the report will be corrected as it is, and an attempt to amend be made, while it is before the House, is not known. It is not yet known, whether the plan of Judge Buckner will be the plan of Judge Bushnell, and whether the amendment made will be made available to nearly members to know.

The local paper reports that the Judge, when informed of concerning the various currency itions submitted, said that if he was forced to vote on the subject, he should support one of the resolutions proposed by Senator McCarthy to Bayard's, for he believed that a legislative effort to force conformity in time of peace was unconstitutional, and believed the Supreme Court would rule; but he did not desire any extension by Congress in anticipation of the court's decision.

YELLOW-FEVER.

REPORT OF THE CUBAN COMMISSIONERS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The Commission appointed by the President to proceed to Cuba for the purpose of collecting information in relation to the yellow-fever, has submitted a preliminary report to the National Board of Health.

The report says that the most general result is that yellow-fever continually prevails in every place in Cuba from which reports were received, provided these places are of any size or commercial impor-and contain any considerable number of acclimated persons to furnish food for widespread epidemics. In this particular, the medical authorities are as the intelligent and experienced natives. In the most part, the natives called the profession. Before leaving the United States most absolute assurances are given by natives or ex-residents of Cuba, and even in Cuba itself these assurances were confidently repeated, that yellow fever never occurs in the United States. Diligent inquiry was made for all accessible places, and diligent investigation invariably proved that these assurances were false, and that they were not only true, but that the only actual prevalence of the disease due to a measure to the small number of unacclimated visitors or residents at such places. This is the reason why the prevalence of yellow fever is so equally marked in all the States. This is the reason why the prevalence in different years at the same place, and variation is at times independent, apparently, of the amount of unexcavated material.

BRIDGE OR TUNNEL.

REPORT OF THE DETROIT RIVER ENGINEERS BOARD.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 8.—The Secretary of War transmitted to the Senate to-day the report of the Board of Engineer Officers "relative to the bridge across the Detroit River at Detroit." The Board is unanimously of the opinion that the most complete solution of the problem is the construction of a tunnel under Detroit River. It, however, indorses the design of a large floating bridge, concluding that the use of material of the Detroit River is not feasible. The bridge would have the draws of 300 or 400 feet in width at a time when it would be safe to navigate the river, and that if the right of way is clearly and physically given to navigation, there would be no material or undue injury to that interest.

THE BOARD mentioned the fact that they were in the hands of Gen. Sherman to inquire whether for railroad purposes the Detroit river could be bridged.

WAS HE BRIDGED OR TUNNELED?

DETROIT, or within one mile above or below city, in such manner as to accommodate the trade and commerce crossing the river at a point, and without material injury to the navigation of said river, a good and convenient bridge or bridges over the same, at any craft when required." They convened Detroit the first Thursday of October, 1879, and were required by Gen. Sherman to compile and submit their report and recommendations to the Chief of Engineers before Dec. 1. The day after the meeting, the Board received the statements and arguments of persons favoring or opposing the construction of a bridge or bridges, and then they heard the views of all parties interested. The Board adjourned, to enable them to collect statistics bearing upon the question.

THE DIFFICULTY
 If they met with at the start is thus briefly stated: At Detroit two immense streams of commerce come into direct interference, namely, the water and the other by railroads. The problem before the Board was, to so arrange the bridge or tunnel that these mixed sources of traffic would not be in the least injured by either with the least injury to both, and in such manner as to accommodate the railroad.
